What's different?Russell Wilson is healthy: Wilson hobbled through most of last season after suffering an ankle injury in the opener. ESPN charting shows that Wilson has been pressured, sacked or put under duress on 36 percent of pass plays since he entered the league, the highest rate for any quarterback with 100 pass attempts or more in those five plus seasons. Wilson's pressure rate is near 35 percent so far this season but he is healthy.

Now, that duty has been passed onto Max Domi, who spreads out his violence. And rarely hits the net. Luckily the game picked up in the third period, giving us some fun material to go over. Prior to the start of a game, a coin toss determines which team will kick off the ball to their opponent. Each team lines up on opposite halves of the field, with a minimum ten yards of space between them for the kickoff. The team receiving the ball can make a fair catch (which stops the play immediately), catch the ball and run it back until the ball carrier is tackled, or, if the ball is kicked out of bounds, let the ball go dead on its own (the last case usually happens when the ball is kicked all the way into or through the opponent's end zone, resulting in a touchback and the ball being brought several yards out of the end zone to begin play).
