During the 1946 season, Penn State's Nittany Lions team voted to cancel a regular season game at the University of Miami, rather than compromise by not bringing their black players. (Miami, like other southern schools at the time, refused to compete against integrated schools unless they left their black players at home.)[2]In 1948, Triplett became the first African American to play in the Cotton Bowl Classic, catching the tying touchdown in Penn State's 13 13 tie with Southern Methodist University.[3]Triplett also co founded the Gamma Nu chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha while at Penn State.[3] Triplett returned to Penn State on November 11, 2015 to meet with Coach James Franklin and the team after their bye week scrimmage. [citation needed] Although Triplett was only the third African American chosen in the 1949 NFL Draft, he was the first of the draftees to take the field in a league game. (Other undrafted African Americans had previously played in the league.) The 5' 10", 173 pound running back and return specialist played for the Detroit Lions from 1949 50. Triplett holds the Lions' single game record in kickoff return yardage with 294 (second highest total in NFL history), including a 97 yard touchdown return against the Los Angeles Rams in 1950; his average of 73.5 yards per return in that game is also an NFL record.

Warhop was named the offensive line coach of the Kansas Jayhawks on January 11, 1986.[1] He was named the offensive line coach corey white jersey for Vanderbilt on February 21, 1989.[2] After coaching the Commodores in 1989, Warhop resigned on December 13, 1989,[3] and took the New Mexico offensive line coaching job on December 17, 1989. [4] After coaching the Lobos in 1990, Warhop guinton patton jersey resigned and became the offensive coordinator for the London Monarchs bryce petty jersey of the World League of American eric tomlinson jersey Football.[5] Warhop spent two seasons with the Monarchs before he was hired as the offensive line coach for Southern Methodist on February 17, 1993.[6] He spent the summer of 1994 as a minority intern for the Denver Broncos of the National Football League.[7] From 1994 1995 Warhop worked as the offensive line coach for Boston College.[8]Warhop was named the co offensive line coach for the St. Louis Rams on February 8. 1996. [9] In the 1997 NFL Draft the Rams took offensive tackle Orlando Pace with the first overall selection. Pace held out of training camp for three weeks to get a bigger contract, and Warhop was angry, stating that Pace "lost a good part of the year." In an attempt to speed up the playbook learning process, Warhop was claude pelon jersey assigned as a special tutor for Pace.[10].
