There have been multiple occasions where the NFL was second guessed regarding Cam Newton and concussions, and each time the concussions tests proved to be negative. There were no concussions. I also seen Cam on multiple occasions obviously faking an injury, lying on the ground for a couple seconds like he just got knocked out, only to jump up laughing.

Never find a quote from Jones about doing away with revenue sharing. He always talked of expanding revenue not asking for a bigger slice of the pie, but for a slice of a bigger pie. Jones problem isn revenue sharing, it the pool above and beyond shared revenue that set up for lower revenue teams that is paid for by the higher revenue teams that he has a problem with.
