Payton Man of the Year award is given annually by the National Football League honoring a player's volunteer and charity work, as well as his excellence on the field. Prior to 1999, it was called simply the NFL Man of the Year Award. Shortly after Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton died (having been the 1977 recipient himself), the award was renamed to honor his legacy as both a great player and a humanitarian.

Some of the reasons that knowledge should be documented are to pass the knowledge to the next generation. All the documented knowledge can be easily pass to the next generation especially to the younger generation. In a way the younger generations are able to learn and know the older generation lifestyle.
