Against the Kansas City Ciefs on November 15, 2015, Osweiler took over for Peyton Manning, who was benched after throwing four interceptions and posting a passer rating of 0.0.[22] The Broncos later announced that Osweiler would start in place of the injured Manning the following week against the Chicago Bears.[23] In his first start on his 25th birthday, he completed 20 out of his 27 passes for 250 yards with two touchdowns and a 127.1 passer rating in a 17 15 win over the Bears, becoming the first player to start and win his first career game on his birthday.[24] He was named the AFC Offensive Player of the Week for his performance against the Bears.[25] Osweiler was presented the game ball after the game by head coach Gary Kubiak. The next day, it was announced that Osweiler would start the following week against the New England Patriots. On November 29, 2015, Osweiler led the Broncos to a win over the then undefeated Patriots in overtime, 30 24.

The silent treatmentRodney Harrison, Patriots safety, 2003 08: "When we were down in the Super Bowl at Houston [in 2004], it was practice and it was a competitive tanner purdum jersey one. The defense had its way with Tom that day knocking down balls, forcing incomplete passes and we were all pumped up. Then I stepped in front and picked Tom off, running down the field, high stepping, talking trash.
