Where are those boys now? I look out of the window of jonotthan harrison jersey my flat in north London and I don't see kids playing in the street, or walking home with steam on their shoulders and joe klecko jersey scabs on their knees, hotly contesting a goal that never was. I see them ferried instead between "play dates" in 4x4s, faces so blurred behind the windows they could be faces drawn on balloons. And when I do see children playing out on the streets, occasionally, I don't see a childhood shamarko thomas jersey I recognise.

But slowly, things began to change. After about 18 months, I noticed that when I spoke to people with whom I wasn't overly familiar I could easily hold their gaze without feeling self conscious. I had begun to appreciate in detail the world around me, and was struck by the magnificence of things that I'd always taken for granted: a heron fishing in a khiry robinson jersey lake; a beautiful sunset; a friendly conversation with a stranger.
